Job Description and Duties

Under the supervision of a Bay Delta Region Environmental Program Manager I, and in collaboration with a Senior Environmental Scientist (Specialist), the Environmental Scientist will be responsible for implementing the tidal wetland monitoring program conducted pursuant to the Fish Restoration Program Agreement (FRPA). The program monitors the effectiveness of tidal wetland restoration actions required under Federal Operations Criteria and Plan (OCAP) Biological Opinions and State 2081 Incidental Take Permit for state and federal water operations, encompassing broad and highly complex issues including hydrology, aquatic ecology, sampling and analysis, and wetland and aquatic habitat restoration effectiveness assessment. The incumbent will bear primary responsibility for food web sampling elements of the program, will assist in developing project-specific work plans and hypotheses, will routinely conduct and oversee field data collection, and will manage field and laboratory data. The position involves working collaboratively with the Interagency Ecological Program Tidal Wetland Monitoring Project Work team to develop and coordinate monitoring and research activities.

Working Conditions

Using PC and keyboard for most of the work day, 5 days a week, when in the office. Involves sitting most of the time, but may involve walking or standing for brief periods. Several days a month, work aboard a research vessel collecting, sorting, and processing biological samples. Field work involves kneeling, reaching and lifting up gear up to 40 lbs, and may occur in inclement weather, rough water and require early starts and long working days.

Application Instructions

Dates printed on Mobile Bar Codes, such as the Quick Response (QR) Codes available at the USPS, are not considered Postmark dates for the purpose of determining timely filing of an application.

Final Filing Date: 6/30/2017

Who May Apply

Individuals who are currently in the classification, eligible for lateral transfer, eligible for reinstatement, eligible for a Training and Development assignment, have SROA and/or Surplus eligibility, or have list eligibility (or are in the process of obtaining list eligibility). SROA and Surplus candidates may attach "surplus letters" to their applications. To obtain list eligibility, you must pass the online Environmental Scientist exam. See <https://jobs.ca.gov>.

Applications will be screened and only the most qualified applicants will be selected for an interview.
